

YANKEES NOW HOLD EDGE IN THE WORLD SERIES

American Leaguers Make It Three Out of Five Games Monday Afternoon

Despite Two Successive Defeats Yanks Go To the Pole By Coming From Behind In World's Championship Race At the Polo Grounds.

HOW THEY LINED UP:

Yankees		Giants
Miller	cf	Burns
Peck	ss	Bancroft
Ruth	lf	E. Muesel
R. Meusel	rf	Young
Pipp	1b	Kelley
Ward	2b	Rawlings
McNally	3b	Frisch
Schang	c	Smith
Hoyt	p	Nehf

Undaunted by two successive defeats at the hands of the National League champions, the New York Yankees went out Monday afternoon and garnered themselves a victory, trimming the Giants to the tune of 3 to 1.

Mr. Kelley, star batter of the Giants, came across with the hit that started the scoring of the day, when he poled a clean single to right field in the opening frame, while three of his team mates occupied the bases, Bancroft scoring. Meusel fanned and Rawling's ended the inning and incidentally the Giant's scoring by forcing Kelly at second.

YANKS COME BACK

In the third the Yanks started scoring, getting one run. McNally walked and Schang obligingly doubled to left, sending Mac to third. He scored on Miller's sacrifice fly to left.

In the fourth inning Ruth lead off with a bunt which paved the way for the two runs that marked the end of the game's scoring.

Umpires—Rigley (National) at the plate; Moriarity (American) at first; Quigley (National) at second; Chill (American) at third. Attendance, 30,000.

First Inning

Miller opened for the Yankees. Out on a pop fly to short. Peckinpaugh went out, third to first. Ruth ended the inning by fanning out.

For the Giants, Burns, hit to third, McNally fumbled the ball and Burns safe on first. Bancroft hit to short forcing Burns at second, Bancroft reaching first safely. Frisch hit to Hoyt and the ball caromed off his glove for a single. Bancroft on second. Young was given a base on balls, filling the bases. Kelly singled to short right scoring Bancroft. E. Meusel fanned out. Rawlings hit to short, forcing Kelly at second. One run, two hits, one error.

Second Inning

R. Meusel opened the Yankee's second with a single to short right. Pipp sacrificed him to second. Ward fanned. Meusel stole third. Frisch dropped the throw to catch Meusel and the latter tried to score, but was thrown out by Frisch. No runs, no hits, no errors.

For the Giants, Smith first up, went out on a line drive to center. Nehf went out on a fly to left. Burns beat out a bunt toward first. Hoyt got the ball but no one there to cover the

REDUCTION OF RAIL RATES AND WAGES SOUGHT

Hoover To Ask Recommendations of Unemployment Conference.

HOPEFUL OF AGREEMENT

Rail Officials Assert Operating Costs Must Be Cut Down.

By HERBERT WALKER, (United Press Correspondent)

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—The National Unemployment Conference resuming its sessions here today after a 10-day recess, will be asked by Secretary of Commerce Hoover to recommend reduction of both railroad rates and wages as one of the permanent measures to relieve unemployment.

Hoover Reaches Conclusion
Hoover, who is the guiding spirit of the conference, has come to the conclusion that the present business depression cannot be relieved until railroad rates are brought down from their present high level.

Railroad executives assert rate reductions are impossible under present operating costs, and that wages must be cut.

Hoover is hopeful an agreement can be reached through the conference to cut rates and wages.

Strike Certain If More Wage Cuts Instituted

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 10.—Additional reductions of rail wages will make a strike certain, according to railroad union heads here today. The Big Four union chiefs are here to consider the vote of their members favoring a walkout rather than an acceptance of wage reduction made last July. The official count, just completed, is said to favor a walkout by a large majority. One of the Big Four union leaders said the vote was not taken to call a strike but to forestall any further reduction in wages.

The union heads believe that if they had a vote favorable to a strike that could be flashed at any time, the rail executives would go slow in asking for any further decrease.

Rail executives from all parts of the country met in Chicago the latter part of the week. They are expected to petition the Railroad Labor Board for another wage reduction. At the same time it will be suggested the Interstate Commerce Commission adjust downward freight rates.

BANDITS AFTER BOOZE SHOOT DOWN WATCHMAN

Police Suspect Band Attempted To Raid Hidden Booze Cache.

By United Press
Chicago, Ill., Oct. 10.—Steven Flehpal, a watchman at the George J. Cook Brewing Company's plant here, was shot and killed by five armed bandits early today.

Police suspect the bandits, who escaped, intended to raid the brewery in the hopes of finding a cache of liquor they believed hidden there.

MARION M'ARDLE TO TAKE STAND IN OWN DEFENSE

COUNTY FARM AGENT TO ATTEND BIG CONFERENCE

Will Also Attend Special Aggie Extension Course At State Col.

County Agent Sterrett will leave Thursday for State College to attend the special agricultural conference to be held there Thursday, in connection with the inauguration of President John M. Thomas, which is to take place on Friday. While at the college he will also attend a special agricultural extension course with other county agents and college specialists.

Marks New Era

The inaugural conference is expected to mark the beginning of a new era for Pennsylvania agriculture. Rural life, schools, churches, farmers' organizations, and production and distribution of food will be discussed by men who have spent years on these different subjects. Particular attention is to be given research work and the experimental station duties. County Agent Sterrett points out that this work at the college is absolutely essential to his field work in this county, as well as that in all other counties.

Such men as the following will speak at the conference: Secretary of Agriculture Fred Rasmussen; Dean A. R. Mann, Cornell Agricultural College; J. H. Dennis, State Bureau of Vocational Education; J. A. McSparran, Master of the State Grange; Dr. E. W. Thomas, of the New York Experiment Station; Hon. C. G. Jordan, Volant; Dr. L. A. Klein, Dean of the U. S. School of Veterinary Medicine, and Dean Watts, of Penn State.

BOLD ATTEMPT TO ROB OSCEOLA MAN IS A FAILURE

Two Men Jump Stratford Ulich—After Money—Are Routed.

A bold attempt was made to waylay and rob Stratford Ulich, bookkeeper for the Osceola Lumber Company, on Saturday evening last, about 8:15 o'clock. Mr. Ulich left his office and started home. His place is located within a block of Main street and as he entered the gate at the rear of his lot two men jumped out and grabbed him, demanding his money. Mr. Ulich battled with the robbers but was struck several times on the head and finally knocked down.

His cries attracted the attention of a number of people on Main street and when they ran to his assistance the robbers fled without any booty. Mr. Ulich had a considerable sum of money on his person and it is thought the robbers were aware of this fact. One of the men is described as being much larger than the other, but no detailed description is given.

ITALIAN ARRESTED IN CONNECTION WITH SLAYING

DEMOCRATS FAIL TO FILE PRIMARY EXPENSE LISTS

Successful Primary Candidates For Three Posts Overlook Step.

ELECTION LAWS DISQUALIFY TRIO

None Eligible To Take Oath of Office If They Are Elected.

Last Wednesday was the last day for the filing of expense accounts of candidates for the different county offices voted for at the September primary election.

The election law provides that all candidates at the primary must file a statement of the expense incident to their campaign within fifteen days after the date of the primary. The primary having been held on Sept. 20th, the fifteen day period expired October 5th.

What They Say They Spent
The following candidates filed their accounts and list their expenses as here given:

County Treasurer, Gertrude Rumberger, R., $666.66; Lohn E. Laing, D., $297.25; of this amount Mr. Laing yet owes $34.50.

District Attorney, John C. Arnold, R., $89.25; W. Wallace Smith, D., $109.50; Sheriff, T. J. Lowell, $1077.77.

County Coroner

Dr. J. I. Pollum of DuBois, who nominated on both Republican and Democratic tickets, says his nominations cost him less than $50.

Harry C. Conner for Jury Commissioner on the Republican ticket, says his expenses were less than $50.

Democrats Failed to File
It will be noticed that T. J. Gleason, of DuBois, the successful Democratic candidate for Sheriff at the primary failed to comply with the law regarding the filing of expense accounts and has therefore disqualified himself, under the Corrupt Practices Act, to take the oath of office even though he should receive a majority of the votes cast at the November election.

In the case of Albert Y. Straw, Democrat for Jury Commissioner, and E. D. Billotte, Democrat for County Surveyor, no expense accounts were filed either and following the November election neither candidate is eligible to take the oath of office in case objection is made on the question raised.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS

INDUSTRIAL ASSOCIATION MEETS

The Industrial Association held a meeting on Friday night, the first one held this summer and read reports of the work done by it some time previous. It was stated that those holding stock in the blouse factory building were unwilling to sell, as the quotation of the same was above par and that the building would pay itself out within a few years leaving a good margin of interest for all those holding stock for its erection. Another row of machines will soon be assembled and the factory run every day during the year.

COUPLE CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING

One of the most pleasing and happy events that has ever occurred in Bloom township was the celebration of the 50th anniversary or golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Bilger, which was held at their home Saturday. Over one hundred relatives and guests were present to take part and enjoy the anniversary. Mr. Bilger has resided in Bloom township all of his life, thereby being known to almost the entire populace of that section of the country, all of whom are his friends. The guests enjoyed themselves throughout the entire day and partook of the feast set before them with pleasure and heartiness as only a hungry delegation of folks can. A number of Curwensville folks were present and mingled with the country folks with pleasure. It was a gala day in the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Bilger and one that will linger long in the minds of the two in which the entertainment was intended to convey.

Mrs. George Gray, of Clearfield, came up to Curwensville Sunday and spent the time with her brother Reuben G. Bilger.

Alex Frankhouser while engaged in using an ax making a "boom" stick at the quarry Friday had the misfortune to let the axe slip from his hand with the result of cutting a slice out of his right foot from the toe half the length of the ball of the foot. New Kind of Clock.
A clock recently invented in England has some novel features. One of these is that the weight of the clock itself is the moving force which actuates the mechanism, the clock sliding down two vertical pillars to start it, therefore, all that is necessary is to push the clock up to the top again. One advantage attaching to this system, in addition to its simplicity and the absence of keys, is that the need for winding is visible at a glance; hence this necessary operation is not likely to be overlooked.

Advice During Storm.
It is generally conceded that to seek refuge under a tree during a thunder storm is more dangerous than to stay out in the open. Some trees are more often struck than others, and one scientist describes the sycamore tree as the most susceptible of all. But the man who considers himself safe under an oak, because there is a sycamore a few yards away, is putting a sublime faith in statistics. City dwellers are safe from country folk. The great high masses of steel and masonry towers overhead offer a protection.

Curious South-Sea Jargon.
Bouclia-mor is curious jargon which has developed as a means of communication between English-speaking traders and the Islanders of the western Pacific. It derives its name from that of an edible marine organism, the fishing of which flourished in the South Sea in the middle of the last century. Nearly all the words in this language are English, but they are strung together by the natives in accordance with the rules of their own speech.

Better'n an Ice Wagon.
When two little Irish boys asked a woman in an electric machine for a ride, she looked into the upturned dirty faces and couldn't resist. While driving to the street they had designed they sat perfectly still with eyes focused straight ahead, but when they got out she heard one say: "Gee, that's better'n ridin' a ice wagon, ain't it?"

The Fine Art of Saintliness

By REV. LEW W. GOSNELL
Assistant Dean, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

TEXT.—Ye became followers of us and of the Lord. Ye were examples to all that believe in Macedonia and Achaia. For, from you sounded out the word of the Lord.—1 Thess. 1:6-8.

In these verses the apostle gathers three illustrations of the Christian life from as many branches of the fine arts.

The first is taken from the drama. To be sure, he could not have indorsed the modern theater. One needs only to read the newspaper notices of the plays given to-day, to be convinced of this.

Nevertheless, Paul finds an illustration of the Christian life in the drama. For the word "followers" means imitators, those who study from the example. The Thessalonians had thus imitated the first missionaries to their city, and in so doing had found themselves following the Lord.

It is evident they must have been impressed that the missionaries' message was one of vital concern, for they received it in much affliction, albeit with joy of the Holy Ghost.

It is only such an impression, which leads men to become imitators of others. We know a man who for years has done business in the most bustling center of Chicago's traffic. He has consistently adorned the doctrine of Christ in his daily walk, so that it is not surprising those about him have been impressed. One day, a business associate called up this man's pastor and asked him if he could tell him how to get the same kind of religion this man had. He became an imitator of him and thus a follower of the Lord.

But imitation may be outward only. Indeed, a hypocrite, according to the meaning of the original word, is a "play-actor"—another illustration from the drama! Hence, Paul uses an additional figure, which goes deeper.

From the Sculptor's Art.
He calls these believers "examples," that is, examples or types, a figure taken from the sculptor's art. The term suggests, not temporary likeness, but permanent form. Moreover, this form is implanted by a force from without. A man might become an imitator largely by his own efforts, but an "example" must be fashioned by the great Sculptor.

"We are His workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works." Religions made by men, tickle human vanity by exhorting to effort, to self-realization, and tell men what they may make of themselves. The Gospel cuts the nerve of all self-confidence, and assures men they are sinners and must have a Savior. Such a gospel is repudiated today, but we may still say with Paul, as he wrote to Rome: "I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth."

Notice that this figure from the sculptor's art looks two ways. Not only must the example be fashioned by a force from without, but when fashioned, it becomes a pattern for others. So, bearing the likeness of Christ ourselves, we are to impress it on others.

The last figure Paul uses is taken from the art of the musician. He reminds his converts that from them "sounded forth" the Word of the Lord. The particular reference is to the herald's trumpet, with its echoes lingering on the air. Doubtless, they preached the gospel, but better still, they lived it. This spoke in trumpet tones, and the sound was heard. Not only in the province of Macedonia, where they were, but even in Achaia, where Paul was, men were telling of this remarkable company who had turned to God from idols, to serve the living and true God, and to wait for His Son from heaven.

The Music of Redeemed Lives.
Genuine goodness is more effective in promoting the work of God than the most finished orations, but the ideal testimony is that in which lip and life combine. The writer recently sat in the office of a famous rescue mission, and overheard the dictation of a letter to a young Christian. The plain woman who was attempting to dictate it had been wonderfully redeemed. Some years ago, she had reached such depths that her children were taken from her. Finally, when there was no human hope for her, the Lord in His great mercy saved her. She has become a most useful Christian worker, the very embodiment of goodness. The letter she overheard her dictating was not marked by any literary beauty. But as she spoke, lovingly and gratefully of her Savior, we found the tears starting, as we thought of the depths from which she had been lifted and of the way in which she has been adorning the doctrine of God in all things.

Are our lives and testimony such as to impress them that know us that the Gospel is a joyful sound, like the sweet music of a herald's trumpet? Alas, that the religious life of many is negative, a weary round of duties performed, whereas the Christian heart is intended as a choir loft, in which we sing and make melody to the Lord!

Mrs. Eliza B. Dill is visiting her parents in Dilltown over the week-end.

LEGION IN LOAN BUSINESS

Fargo, N. D. Post Adjutant Works Out Plan for the Benefit of His Buddies.

The first instance in which the American Legion has gone into the trust, savings and loan business is reported from Fargo, N. D.

To encourage thrift and to help the needy, the post, on January 1, 1921, instituted an American Legion Loan association from plans worked out by Arthur F. Collier, post adjutant. Four hundred of the post's 700 members already have deposited sums from $5 to $25 on which five per cent interest is paid. A legion man wishing to borrow assigns his state compensation claim to the Legion—it will require eight years for North Dakota to pay all service men the bonus awarded them. The borrower may obtain up to 50 per cent of the amount to be awarded him by the state. He pays interest at 6 per cent.

Immediately upon being granted a loan, the person to whom it is made must open a savings account to insure proper expenditure of the money. Legion posts in many states have written the Fargo post for information upon which to base a similar system.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

"By Skinny"

The itinerary of Marshal Foch, on his way to the American Legion Convention in Kansas City, until Nov. 11, when he takes part in services at the grace of the unknown American soldier in Arlington Cemetery has finally been completed. Upon his arrival in New York, Oct. 28, he will be tendered a formal reception by city and State officials. Thence he will go to Washington to call upon President Harding and officials of the State, War and Navy Departments.

On Oct. 30 he will leave Washington for Kansas City and will be presented to the convention Nov. 1 when he will deliver his address to the Legion and to the American people. Following the convention, Marshal Foch probably will visit Indianapolis, St. Louis, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland and Pittsburgh, his visits being so arranged that he will arrive in Washington on Armistice Day.

General Armando Diaz, Commander in Chief of the Italian armies, is already on his way to America to attend this convention.

The American people may well give heed to the following sentiment:

"You heed the cry, the hungry hand stretched out to you across the sea What of the starved of your own land?"

Is there no food for such as we? Here at your door, within your gate Our souls and bodies, underfed, Lie fainting. Give before too late To those at home who cry for bread

Bread for our limbs to make them strong, Bread for our souls to keep them sane.

Oh, help to right this previous wrong— Then in new beauty we shall stand, Upright and loyal, sane and free, Citizens of the Promised Land, Worthy to make its history.

If you are fair, fat and forty, or baldheaded, the fat end of it and your lack of hair is changeable directly to disarranged or faulty glands. At least that's what Dr. P. H. Friedenberg, of New York told the Medical Society of Pennsylvania at their meeting in Philadelphia last week. He says:

"There will be no more need to get a toupe or wig or to roll around the floor with much puffing and wheezing to lose a few pounds."

Dr. Friedenberg's lecture as a technical discussion was full of prophecy and portent to the medical men gathered to hear him. It was also of great portent to the layman for when told in ordinary English it held out the hopes of years.

In fact, the absolute control of the endocrine system is that "Fountain of Youth" sought long ago in the wilds of Florida by Ponce de Leon. That fountain lies within each human body, but never can be realized fully because there are too many uncontrolled factors to upset the system's perfect balance. It is merely the idealistic aim.

"Normal growth and maturity can be controlled entirely through the endocrine system," said Dr. Friedenberg. "That system is made up of glands which give internal secretions. The best known are the liver; the organs which determine sex; the adrenals, which are near the kidneys; the thyroid in the neck, and the pituitary at the base of the brain. When these glands are not balanced properly it causes some definite physical reaction."

"Lack of hair growth, corpulence, ill temper, nervousness can be directly traced to this cause and cured by the proper treatment of the glands that either are underfunctioning or are enlarged."

"The different temperaments of individuals is largely caused by the same lack of balance. Preference in marriage and courtship is often unconsciously based directly on the desire to match up endocrine balances. The small exceedingly feminine girl wants the husky athlete while the large and strong woman often mates with the mildest of men."

"One Good Thing About Movies. Jid Turkins says he likes motion pictures because the girls can talk about them without getting into arguments about whether to say 'drabona' or 'drabina'."

WHITE PLAGUE DRIVE SAVES MANY LIVES

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 10.—Thirty— saved from death by tuberculosis in 1920 through the fight that has been carried on against the White Plague during the last two decades in this state.

This fact is set forth by Gifford Pinchot, in accepting the Chairmanship of the Christmas Seal Sale Committee for Pennsylvania for the fourteenth annual sale this fall, the strongest kind of justification for enlarging against this preventable disease.

The little Christmas Seal is one of the important factors in this saving of human life. Mr. Pinchot, who is Forestry Commissioner of Pennsylvania, pleads for the Christmas Seal by each resident of more than the price of two postage stamps in providing this health insurance.

"Thirty-nine hundred lives of Pennsylvanians were saved from the plague of tuberculosis in 1920," said Mr. Pinchot today.

"This conservation of human life is figured on the reduced death rate from tuberculosis in 1920 compared with 1906. It has been accomplished by cure and by prevention through the efforts of the State Department of Health and the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis Society (a volunteer agency) with its local organizations. One of the chief factors in this marvelous health accomplishment is the little Tuberculosis Christmas Seal."

"Heartening as the results of this life saving are, the task is not nearly finished. We cannot rest while more than 9,000 fellow Pennsylvanians die annually from a preventable disease. We must spread more and more the doctrine of good health. We must provide county tuberculosis hospitals. We must furnish more funds locally for tuberculosis clinics since part of that burden has fallen to citizen organizations."

ACT FAILS TO INCLUDE OIL TANKS—RULING

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 10.—"It seems to have been generally agreed in all the decisions of the different states that weights and measures laws are for testing the weights and measures used in small sales, such as those made by retail grocers, butchers, etc." says Deputy Attorney General Swoope in an opinion informing Chief W. B. McGrady, of the state bureau of standards, a branch of the department of internal affairs that the law does not give him authority to examine oil tanks.

The opinion attracted some attention, as the chief of standards wanted to know whether there was authority to examine tanks used for oil and from which it is bought and run by refining companies.

Swoope says the oil tanks are like the scales used by checkweighmen to mines and are not within the original law and if they are to be included it must be by specific amendment.

WHERE OUR WAGONS STOP REGULARLY

Perhaps you've noticed the difference in your neighborhood. A few years ago laundry wagons stopped regularly only at those homes where the man of the family was known as a "good dresser."

But today it's different—you'll find our wagons stopping at almost every home in the block.

That's because the modern housewife has learned to appreciate modern laundry service and is giving every member of her family the benefit of it.

Instead of simply shirts and collars, we now call for the whole family bundle, wash and iron everything, and deliver it ready to use or wear.

Ask us about our finished family service—have us call for your bundle this week. We're sure one trial will convince you that this is a better wash way.

PROCLAMATION

The increasing and needless destruction of our country's resources by preventable fire is a challenge to our future prosperity. In spite of our costly experiences of ruinous conflagrations during the past half century and our present great need of conservation, the burning up of our created wealth, with attendant heavy loss of life, goes on apparently unchecked.

Over $1,416,000,000 of our resources were destroyed by fire in the five years from 1915 to 1919 inclusive. Excepting for the year of the San Francisco catastrophe, 1920 witnessed the greatest year's loss we have ever suffered, with a total of $500,000,000. But greater than this penalty is the loss of human children, are burned to death in the United States each year, and a still larger number are seriously injured.

The prevention of this sinful waste is unquestionably one of the high duties of citizenship. It affects the welfare of each one of us and the future greatness of America.

THEREFORE, I, William Cameron Sproul, governor of the State of Pennsylvania, by the authority in me vested, do designate and proclaim Monday, October 10, 1921, as Fire Prevention Day, and I urge every citizen of this state to take an active part in making this day and period of practical value to that end. I trust that the proper public departments, in cooperation with chambers of commerce and other organizations may plan such instructive and educational exercises as shall impress the public mind with the purpose of this day's observances. I urge the promotion in our schools of systematic instruction in fire prevention, constant observance of the ordinary precautions that safeguard us from fire, and orderliness in home and community.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State this third day of October, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand, Nine Hundred and Twenty-one, and of the Commonwealth the one hundred and forty-sixth.

WM. C. SPROUL,
Governor.

SEPTEMBER IMPROVEMENT

(Alexander Hamilton Institute)

The turn for the better became more pronounced in September and extended to new industries and new areas. Over 200 million bushels of wheat have been moved to market since July 1; cotton prices have remained steady at a level which, if maintained, will yield $400 million more to the cotton planters than if the prices of June and July had continued. Steel and coal production increased. Prices of iron, steel, oil and lumber showed signs of stability with occasional increases. There was more settlement in employment. The Federal Reserve Bank at New York reduced its discount rate to 5 per cent and there was a strong upward trend in the prices of investment securities.

The improvement in cotton started a month ago, just after Congress passed a law authorizing the War Finance Corporation to lend one billion dollars to assist the movement of the crops. Not much of this money has been used, however, and it should be pointed out that the improvement in cotton is based primarily upon natural economic forces. The crop is only 7,000,000 bales as compared with 13,000,000 bales last year. Equally important is the fact that the main sources of demand for cotton goods show an increasing purchasing power.

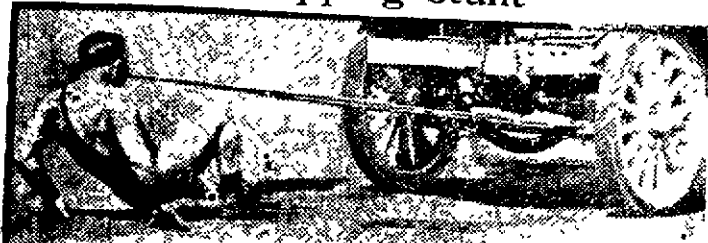

The improvement in the iron and steel industry is also proceeding along natural lines. The recent curtailment of production has prevented an excessive accumulation of warehouse supplies. On the demand side the favorable factors are the financial improvement of the railways and the rise in the bond market.

The railways usually consume one-third of all the steel production in the United States and railroad buying is tending to increase. The net earnings of the railroads in July were $69 million as compared with a deficit last year. It will require several months more of good earnings to rehabilitate the railroads financially, but continued good earnings are in prospect.

The relation of bond prices to steel consumption is somewhat intangible but it is a relationship, nevertheless, which can be taken on faith. There can be no genuine boom in the steel industry without conditions favorable to fixed investment in bridges, railroad construction and new building of various kinds, and these activities require borrowing through the issue of long term securities. It is encouraging, therefore, that the Liberty Fourth 4 1/2's have recovered from below 87 to 91 and railway bonds have risen 5 points in three months.

There are still weak spots in the general situation. In the United States the prices of corn, oats and live stock are low; the high levels of wages paid by the railways, the coal mines and in building trades are obstacles to recovery.

A Column of News and Timely Topics for the Man Who Feeds the World

PULLETS SHOULD WEAR THEIR WINTER COATS

Every year there are a large number of pullets that go into a fall molt. This condition is disastrous because it is accompanied by a decrease in egg production, from which many birds will not resume laying until spring, says County Agent Storrett. A chicken is expected to have from three to five sets of feathers from the time it receives its first set until it is a mature pullet. According to the Pennsylvania State College poultry extension specialists it is the fall molt which proves to be expensive.

To avoid losses be sure that the pullets are in winter quarters before they start laying at a very late date. Avoid cold drafts and lights. Observe regular feeding habits. Examine the pullets frequently and keep them in a good sanitary condition. If they are accustomed to free range, continue it. Abundant use of green food and exercise are essential.

TIMELY REMINDERS FROM STATE COLLEGE

Storage—Squashes and pumpkins that have been severely frosted never keep well. They should be taken in before heavy frosts and stored in a warm, dry place for a week or two. After that they can be kept in a cooler place where they will not be frozen.

Machinery—Farm machinery that will not be used again until next year should be placed in a dry place for the winter.

Give your parts a good coating of oil. A little paint on rusted portions will lengthen the machine's life.

Poultry—Pullets should be mature and heavy weight before being fed for egg production. Feeding a large amount of grain will increase the weight. Yellow skinned and shanked varieties should be well colored before being set on eggs.

Herd Improvement—The surest and quickest way of improving production of a dairy herd is through the use of a high class pure bred sire. The cheapest way to secure him is through the cooperative bull association plan. See your county agent about it and talk it over with your neighbors.

Fall Pigs—Fall is a good time to have every opportunity to make good growth before cold weather comes. Feed liberally, keep the quarters clean, get rid of lice and satisfactory growth may be expected.

STATE GRADUATE HONOREE

Karl B. Lohman, who was graduated from the landscape gardening course at the Pennsylvania State College on June 1, 1921, has been appointed head of the landscape architecture department at the University of Illinois. He has become well known throughout Pennsylvania during the past several years as the landscape specialist with the State Bureau of Municipalities. He is succeeded there by Herbert E. Dahl, who was graduated from Pennsylvania in 1919.

Carrying On With the American Legion

The mayor of Wenatchee, Wash., the county sheriff and all his deputies are members of the local post of the Legion.

Dr. A. A. Van Dyke, St. Paul, Minn., member of the national executive committee, has been elected commander of the Minnesota department to succeed A. H. Vernon, Little Falls.

More than 100 movie stars, members of the Hollywood Club, post of the American Legion, will attend the reunion of the Ninety-first division at Los Angeles, September 24 and 25.

At least 31 bands from Missouri will attend the national convention of the American Legion at Kansas City, Oct. 9, 10, 11 and November 1. St. Louis will send a band of 100 pieces.

More than one eighth of the population of Radcliffe, Pa., is enrolled in the American Legion. The town has 100 police men out of a population of 800, very few of whom belong to the local post.

To teach children proper love and respect for Old Glory, state school leaders and a committee from the American Legion are writing a simple impromptu ceremony to be followed in every school room.

When violence was threatened against Mrs. Ida Crouch Hazlett, socialist speaker at Des Moines, Ia., recently, a group of American Legion men saved her and carried her to a police station for protection. Her sympathizers at first believed she was being kidnapped.

A meat cutter is the commander, a railroad switchman the vice commander and a bank clerk the adjutant of the American Legion post at Harlowton, Mont., which has the largest percentage of potential membership in the state. In a village of 2,500, the post has a 32-piece band.

Citizens of Ephrata, Wash., had been discussing a city park for years. One Sunday morning the local post of the American Legion turned out in force with wagons, shovels, rakes and picks and before the church bells rang had ground prepared for the park. The citizens will complete the work and stop discussions.

President Harding's California world conference on disarmament this fall is expected by officials in charge of the third annual national convention of the American Legion at Kansas City, October 30, 31, and November 1, to insure the presence of a number of distinguished foreign generals at the Legion convention.

There is no railroad, no post office, not even a town. But there is a thriving post of the American Legion in a farming locality 35 miles northwest of Pange, N. D. The men meet every week in a different farm house to hold socials and dances. The farmers of the area are furnishing the Legion posts with funds to erect a community house.

The Harvest Moon. The harvest moon is the one on or nearest to the 21st of September, harvest time. When nearly full it rises for several consecutive nights at about the same hour. A poetical playwright points out that it is a kindly arrangement of the Creator for the benefit of lovers. There is at that time a small angle between the moon's orbit and the horizon which causes this complaisance on the part of the queen of the night.

England's Jealousy Aroused. It was not with the close of the fifteenth century that England began to take an active interest in the new world. It had been found beyond the Atlantic, Spain led the way, for her sailing, under the Italian Columbus, had discovered the continent, but England was unwilling that Spain should reap all the glory and all the profit; and in 1497 King Henry VII fitted out an expedition for exploration beyond the sea.

A Frog Concert. As I sat on the piazza that evening, I noticed first an ominous absence of bird voices, and next the presence of a numerous frog population about the little lake close by. The musical performances of these voluble reptiles began about sunset and increased in volume and power till nothing else could be heard. At all the thrushes in the state had assembled in that spot and sung their loudest, they could not have been heard above the awful volume of frog voices.—Olive Thorne Miller.

Famous Edinburgh Street. Princes Street, Edinburgh, is generally considered to be the most picturesque thoroughfare of any city in the world. With the grim, historic pile of Holyrood palace towering above the rocky ravine on one side and the fine row of stores with windows decked out in the brightest tints and the old pattern silverware for which the Scottish capital is famous, on the other side, it makes a picture that the traveler carries in his mind for many years afterward.—New York Times.

"FOOTLIGHTS"

"Footlights," adapted from the endless chain of Saturday evening Post tales, with Elsie Faxon as its star, succeeds in entering. At times it is colorful, full of action, and again it seems just a long, As Elizabeth Parsons, the country miss with ideas of stage career and as Liss Parson the made-to-order Russian actress, Miss Ferguson is charming and says, as she always does, a considerable amount of ability to convince her audience.

Little Lizzie Parsons dreams the stage and journeys from her New England home to New York, her playing third-rate vaudeville till she is almost ready to give up. She captivates Oswald Kane, a known manager looking for new material, with an impersonation of a great Russian actress. Under tutelage Lizzie becomes Liza. Of course she becomes the rage of the season. Every thing lovely young Liza meets and L. Brett Page, a young Knickerbocker millionaire. Liza soon realizes it is the exotic Russian creature fascinates and cleverly downs forever and becomes Lizzie Parsons again. We leave our hero and hero eating mince pies at a luncheon, to live happily ever after.

"THE IDLE CLASS"

Charles Spencer Chaplin supplies two reels of his own particular brand of humor, though it isn't so particular as most of his recent work. Here he is both tramp and gentleman, about equal parts of each, and quite as idle as the other. The tramp has all the taste of the better sort, travels under the finest Pullman's grounds they had no tickets. He spends his leisure (or total) as reported later that the raiders time playing golf and attends a masquerade disguised as himself. The gentleman is absent-minded, forgets to put on his trousers in which he series.

should have met his returning wife, and gets himself locked in a suit of armor, just prior to hitting a cock-tail. Thus there is some broad comedy and some that is infectiously individual—enough in all to sustain a reputation if not to advance it.

"THREE WORD BRAND"

"Three Word Brand" is an interesting study in economics. Mr. Hart plays three parts, a distinct saving, his conversation in one of them is limited to three words at a time and the whole affair effects considerable economy in point of inspiration. Every now and then it hits the pace of some of Mr. Hart's best "Westerns" but, generally speaking, it is lengthy and forced, both of which qualities may easily apply to the chief actor's face and its gymnastics.

Series' enthusiasts. Haynes Declares War War on the bootleggers was declared by Commissioner Haynes in his speech at New York, denouncing as anarchists these persons who aid the rum sellers or help them evade the law. All person drinking illicit liquor may be included in this list. One of the first skirmishes of the new war was a raid on the big Washington bootlegging ring, resulting in wholesale arrests of men and women selling booze almost in the shadow of the Capitol.

Frustrated At Polo Grounds A few hours after this raid Federal agents tried to rush the Polo Grounds on a raid against bootleggers suspected of selling booze to quite as idle as the other. BABE RUTH'S HOMER OF LITTLE AVAIL

New York, Oct. 10.—Babe Ruth made a home run at the Polo grounds Sunday, but the hit, a tremendous wallop into the right field bleachers came in the ninth inning with nobody on base, and failed to save the Yanks from defeat in the fourth game of the World's Series.

The Giants won by the score of 4 to 2.

base. Bancroft singled to right and was caught between first and second when he overran first base.

Bancroft overran first and while they were attempting to catch him between first and second Burns tried to score and was out at the plate.

Third Inning McNally started the third the Yankees by going to first on balls. Schang doubled to left. McNally going to third. Hoyt went out, short to first. Miller flied out to left, and McNally scored after the catch, Schang also taking third. Peckinpaugh went out at first. One run, one hit, no errors.

In the Giants' half Frisch singled to right. Young hit to third, forcing Frisch at second, but was safe on first. Kelly fanned. E. Muesel doubled to left, putting Young at third. Rawlings ended the inning by popping out to third. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Fourth Inning

Ruth laid down a bunt and beat it out to first. R. Muesel doubled to left, scoring Ruth. Pipp was out, second to first, Muesel advancing to third. Ward was out on a sacrifice to centre, Muesel scoring. McNally flied out to centre, Burns making a great leaping catch for the out. Two runs, two hits, no errors.

Smith, for the Giants, was given a base on balls. Nehf struck out. Burns fanned, Smith being doubled at second attempting to steal on the third strike. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fifth Inning

Schang, first up for the Yanks, went out on a four fly to third. Hoyt was out, third to first. Miller doubled to centre. Peckinpaugh went out on fly to left. No runs, one hit and no errors.

Bancroft opened for the Giants by flying out to right. Frisch went out on a line drive to short. Young ended the inning by grounding out to first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Sixth Inning

Ruth began the sixth for the Yankees by fanning for the second time in the game. R. Muesel was out on a foul fly to first. Pipp went out, pitcher to first. No runs, no hit, no errors.

Kelly cracked open the inning for the Giants with a single to centre. E. Muesel hit a grounder to Ward, fore-ing Kelly at second. Rawlings then went out on a fly to centre. Smith ended the agony by going out, second to first. No runs, one hit, on errors.

Seventh Inning

Ward opened the seventh by popping to short. McNally went out the same way. Schang was out on a fly to left. No runs, no hits, no errors.

For the Giants Nehf was out on a fly to left. Burns hit to Hoyt and was thrown out at first. Bancroft made the third out when he grounded to first, Pipp making the play unassisted. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Eighth Inning

In the eighth, Hoyt fanned. Miller was out, third to first. Peckinpaugh hit to third. Frisch knocked the ball down but was unable to handle it in time to catch Peck at first. Ruth fanned for the third time. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Frisch opened the Giants' half of the eighth by going out at first on a hard hit grounder. Young hit to McNally, who knocked the ball down but Young was safe at first. Kelly then singled to right, Young taking third on the hit, but Kelly was out at second, trying to make two bases on to hit. E. Muesel ended the inning with a fly to first. No runs, one hit, one error.

Ninth Inning

R. Muesel started the Yankees' ninth by going out, third to first. Pipp hit one down the first base line and was out at first, Nehf covering the bag. Ward made the third out when he hit to Rawlings, and was tossed out at first.

Rawlings, first up for the Giants, doubled to left field. Smith went out on a pop fly to second. Snyder, pinch hitting for Nehf, fanned. Burns ended the game by fanning. No runs, one hit, no errors.

When Dogs Bark.

It is rather curious that dogs bark only when they are connected with human beings in some fashion; for instance when a burglar is suspected to be near. When the dog is alone, he is given to growls, growls, howls or whines. Possibly the act of barking is the dog's method of talking. It would seem like it when your pet dog sees you carrying food and barks as if he were asking for it. Another dog, which is in the habit of going to bed at sundown, will bark to tell you that he is ready when the time comes.

"The Immodest Sex."

Jack London spoke of women as "the immodest sex," and by saying that "men are far more modest than women," he stepped into the heated air of argument, bringing down storms upon his head. But he considered that he had several proven names to bear him out among them Paul's "Love increases man's delicacy, and lessens woman's," and Bernard Shaw's, "If women were as fastidious as men, morally and physically, there would be an end to the race."—Charlton London in the Century Magazine.

Little Real Graham Flour.

Graham flour derives its name from Sylvester Graham, a Connecticut clergyman, who advocated the use of uncolored wheat flour as more conducive to health than white flour. His contention has been fully borne out by recent discoveries in regard to vitamins. Much of the so-called Graham flour sold now is, however, merely white flour mixed with a little bran or flour so coarsely ground as to be unpalatable.

SUMMER FOODS.

A good emergency dessert or salad may be made with any good gelatine jelly as a basis.

Lemon jelly is especially good. Try it with this one: Arrange some lemon jelly, a teaspoonful or two of peaches cut in quarters, a spoonful of orange marmalade and a tablespoonful of pineapple preserve with a little of its juice to top the sherbet cup. Whipped cream may be added if one has it, but it is good without. Some of the same lemon jelly may be used as a salad with fish at some other meal. Serve it on head lettuce with a rich mayonnaise. Peanuts are nice sprinkled over the top of such a salad.

Creamed Onions With Parsley.—Cook even-sized onions in boiling water, adding salt as they are nearly cooked. Melt three tablespoonfuls of butter, add the same amount of flour for half a dozen onions, a half teaspoonful of salt and a little less of paprika, stir until well blended, then add a cupful of rich milk and half a cupful of the liquor in which the onions were cooked; serve poured over the onions and sprinkle with finely minced parsley.

Lamb Stew With Peas.—Take a shoulder cut, cover with boiling water and cook until tender, thicken with flour stirred with some of the meat liquor, add a pint of green peas and cook until the peas are tender. Season well and serve the meat on a platter surrounded with the peas.

Now is the time to put up the small fruits, crushing until well mashed and mixing with an equal amount of sugar. Stir until the sugar is all dissolved, then can in sterile jars. Seal on the cellar bottom or in the chest where they will keep cool.

Grape Nectar.—Put a cupful of sugar with a quart of water over to boil. Cook ten minutes, cool, then add the juice of three lemons, two oranges, one-half can of pineapple and a pint of grape juice. Let stand about three hours then serve with thinly sliced orange on top of each glass.

PROBLEMS OF THE NAVY MEN

Conference of Legion Committee to Devise Ways for Benefit of Members of Branch.

Problems of the navy men who are members of the American Legion and policies affecting naval ex-service men generally will be discussed at a conference of the naval affairs committee of the Legion in Chicago this fall. The meeting has been called by Edward E. Spafford, New York, chairman of the committee, who will announce the date of the conference later.

"The fact that there were eight times as many men in the navy during the World war has tended to minimize the needs of the navy ex-service men," Mr. Spafford declared in announcing the conference. "Few persons know of the high percentage of tubercular cases developed by men in the submarine and submarine service, for instance."

The members of the committee besides Mr. Spafford, are: Benjamin Briscoe, Michigan; Philander Briscoe, Maryland; Claudius G. Tondell, Wisconsin; Fred A. Tillman, California; and C. W. Neville, Jr., Louisiana. The members ranged in rank from lieutenant commander to petty officer.

Legionnaires' Response.

When a post of the American Legion in Jackson, Miss., asked for volunteers to save the life of Walton A. Crawford, over-seas veteran, by blood transfusion, 12 legionnaires responded. Crawford, seriously injured in a street car accident, is recovering.
